The following lists community agencies, hospital-based services, hotlines, and organizations where you can find a therapist working in private practice.

Psychotherapy is provided by a variety of regulated health care workers including registered psychotherapists, psychologists, social workers, nurses, psychiatrists, general practitioners (GPs) and occupational therapists. Treatment from a psychiatrist or GP is covered by public health insurance (such as OHIP in Ontario), and will not cost you anything. Other mental health care providers, such as registered psychologists, registered social workers and registered psychotherapists may also be free if they work in government-funded hospitals, clinics, agencies or an employee assistance program. But if they work in a private practice, their services will not be covered by OHIP, and you may have to pay. If you have an employer-provided or private health insurance plan, part or all of your therapy fees may be covered. For more information on finding a therapist, refer to the CAMH resource sheet on psychotherapy.
